The claims are generally narrative and indefinite, failing to conform with current U.S. practice. They appear to be a literal translation into English from a foreign document and are replete with grammatical and idiomatic errors.

On page 6 of the spec., the 2nd paragraph beginning on that page with "Next" is 1 sentence long and runs for 32 lines making it grammatically incorrect, vague, and confusing. Applicant should re-write it conforming with idiomatic English. The same holds for pager 11 of the spec., 2nd paragraph beginning with "Next." Applicant needs to re-write these paragraphs into idiomatically correct sentences.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-6 as understood are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Chang et al., U.S. Patent Publication #2003/0095542 or Yang et al, U.S. Patent Publication #2003/0072330
